Rosemount receives Regional Trophy at 2014 Decanter World Wine Awards

Rosemount has received international recognition at the 2014 Decanter World Wine Awards announced last night in London, receiving the Regional Trophy and Gold for Australian Red Bordeaux Varietals over £15 for the recently released 2012 Rosemount Estate MV Collection Cabernet Sauvignon.

The Decanter World Wine Awards is one of the world's largest and most influential wine competitions in the world, judged by international and regional wine experts, including founder Stephen Spurrier and Decanter Magazine Wine Writer Andrew Jefford. A Decanter World Wine Award Regional Trophy is a prestigious international accolade.

Rosemount Estate's Chief Winemaker, Matt Koch, said: "Receiving this prestigious award is a considerable achievement for the entire Rosemount team. This particular accolade is even more significant as the 2012 MV Collection Cabernet Sauvignon is part of a brand new wine range showcasing our regional home, McLaren Vale. To be able to represent McLaren Vale on the world stage is truly an honour."

"I think McLaren Vale is one of our most dynamic wine regions – it's known for its consistency and quality, but there's also great diversity and a wonderful energy in the region. Stylistically, Rosemount's approach is about freshness, vibrancy and good drinkability and the MV Collection is our interpretation of what we love most about the vineyards and sub-districts surrounding our winery. It's fantastic for this to be recognised internationally," Matt said.

Featuring bold labels that depict the McLaren Vale landscape from above and showcasing the vibrant flavours of the region, the MV Collection, is a new range of four wines that captures the character and appeal of McLaren Vale and its hero varieties, in Rosemount's signature style.

The 2012 Rosemount Estate MV Collection Cabernet Sauvignon is sourced from a number of McLaren Vale sub-districts resulting in a complex and well-balanced wine with the vibrant fruit characters of classic McLaren Vale Cabernet.

The 2012 vintage featured good winter rains and a warm spring leading to early budburst and flowering. Relatively mild to warm days with cool nights during the ripening period allowed for ideal ripening with lower yields producing wines of great concentration and poise.

McLaren Vale has been an essential part of Rosemount Estate since the 1980s when the team began sourcing fruit from the region, and since Rosemount purchased the 100-year-old Rycroft winery and vineyards in 1991, its focus on the region has grown exponentially.
