

TWE talks LGBTQIA+ inclusion

Treasury Wine Estates proudly supported Australia's leading LGBTQIA+ inclusion event: the annual Pride in Practice conference held in Melbourne recently, covering intersectionality, LGBTQ+ women, trans and gender diverse people, and First Nations LGBTQ+ people. On the sidelines of the conference, we spoke with corporate and community leaders about the importance of advancing LGBTQIA+ inclusion in Australian workplaces, including:

- Pride in Diversity Co-Patron and Business Council of Australia Chief Executive Jennifer Westacott AO
- Treasury Wine Estates CEO Tim Ford
- Treasury Wine Estates Chief of Staff and executive sponsor of the TWE Pride employee resource group Simone Porter-Smith
- Capgemini Head of Diversity, Inclusion and Belonging Steph Sands

The podcast also features TWE Pride employee resource group members Leon Butler (Global Manager, Performance & Reward) and Audrey Teh (Commercial Finance Manager), and is moderated by Australian LGBTQ+ community radio broadcaster Dee Mason.

To listen via Podbean, click here.

To find out more about TWE's approach to Inclusion, Equity and Diversity, visit About - Treasury Wine Estates \(tweglobal.com\).

About Treasury Wine Estates

Treasury Wine Estates (TWE) is one of the world's leading premium wine companies, employing 2,500 talented people across the world, with wine sold in more than 70 countries around the world. TWE owns world-class wine production and packaging facilities in Australia (primarily in South Australia and Victoria), Marlborough in New Zealand, the North and Central Coast regions of California as well as in France and Italy. With a portfolio of outstanding wine brands, prized viticultural assets and world-class production facilities, TWE's commitment to delivering shareholder value is underpinned by its passion for crafting, marketing and selling quality wine through building sustainable partnerships with customers and other industry partners, globally.

Media

Helen Shaw, Treasury Wine Estates
+61 402 227 881
helen.shaw@tweglobal.com