Australian tax transparency measures Treasury Wine Estates' Australian tax contribution in fiscal 2017

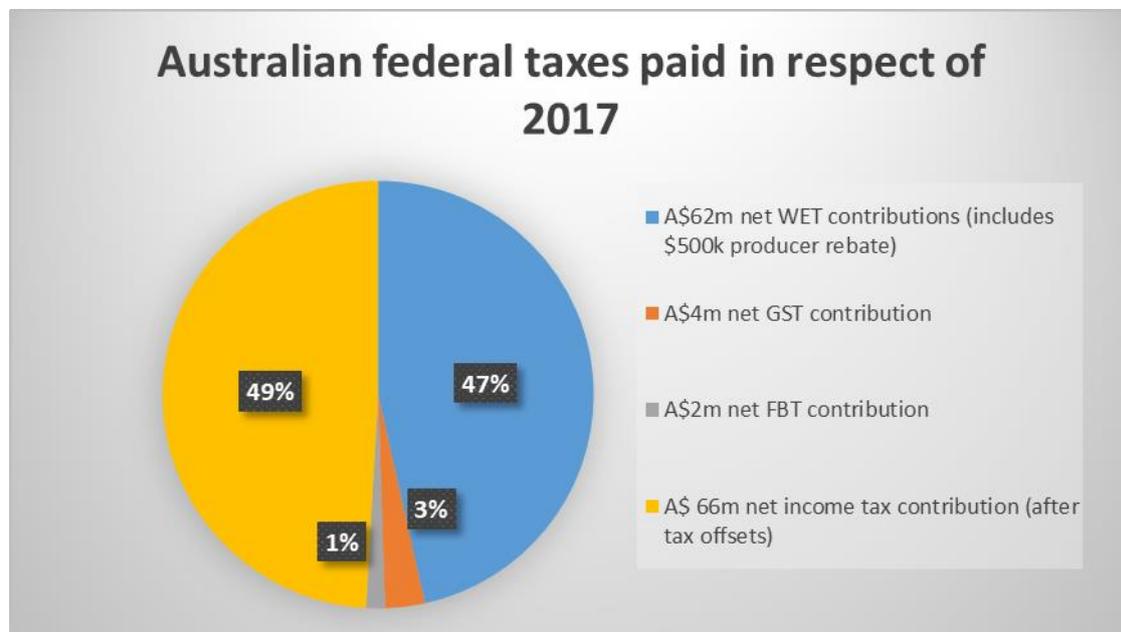

Introduction

In line with global initiatives to improve corporate tax transparency, the Australian Tax Office (ATO) will again publish information on the tax returns of public Australian companies that report a total income of A$100 million or more in their fiscal 2017 tax return. The details to be published by the ATO are the corporate tax entity's name, Australian Business Number, total income, taxable income and income tax payable.

Treasury Wine Estates' Australian federal tax contribution for fiscal 2017

Treasury Wine Estates (TWE) paid a net amount of A$133.8 million in Australian federal taxes for the fiscal 2017 period.

The Australian federal taxes paid by TWE for fiscal 2017 included income tax, Wine Equalisation Tax (WET), Goods and Services Tax (GST) and Fringe Benefits Tax (FBT). The chart below depicts TWE's total Australian federal tax contribution in respect of fiscal 2017, split by type.

In addition to TWE's Australian federal tax contribution shown in the chart above, TWE contributes to Australian state taxes, including payroll tax, land tax and stamp duties.

TWE's fiscal 2017 Australian tax return information

Key numbers from TWE's fiscal 2017 Australian income tax return include:

	(A$ million)
Total income ¹	1,709
Profit/(loss) before tax ²	280
Taxable income ³	229
Tax on taxable income	69
Tax offsets applied	(3)

¹ Total Australian income includes net sales revenue and all other revenue and excludes expenses (e.g. COGS, interest, employee costs, depreciation, etc.).

² Profit before tax of A$280 million includes a dividend of A$18 million from a wholly owned foreign subsidiary which is non-assessable for Australian tax purposes. Further details of the tax and accounting differences in the 2017 year are disclosed in TWE's 2017 tax transparency report, which is published on TWE's website.

³ Taxable income is assessable income derived from all sources less allowable deductions incurred in gaining that income.

TWE's position on tax transparency

TWE places significant importance on maintaining high standards of tax governance and compliance, and fully supports the work on tax transparency by the ATO, the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), the Group of Twenty (G20) and other organisations.

TWE has published a tax report adhering to the principles and details of the voluntary tax transparency code as outlined by the Board of Taxation for the financial year ended 30 June 2017. In addition, TWE released details of its Australian federal tax contribution and Australian tax return information for fiscal 2014, 2015 and 2016 in previous years.

TWE considers the greater transparency of corporate tax affairs to be an opportunity to share relevant information with stakeholders that is above and beyond what the ATO will publish later this year.
